The dynamic father-son team Ken & Brad Kolodner weave together a captivating soundscape on hammered dulcimer and clawhammer banjo blurring the lines of Old-Time, Bluegrass and American Roots music. Regarded as one of the most influential hammered dulcimer players in North America, Baltimore's Ken Kolodner joined forces in 2009 with his son Brad, a renowned clawhammer banjo player. They've sculpted their own brand of driving, innovative, tasteful acoustic roots music with a "creative curiosity that lets all listeners know that a passion for traditional music yet thrives in every generation." The hypnotizing groove of the percussive hammered dulcimer and rhythmic clawhammer banjo is the core of their sound. They are joined by the dynamic multi-instrumentalist Rachel Eddy on fiddle and guitar.

The trio is sometimes joined by bassist Alex Lacquement to form The Ken & Brad Kolodner quartet. They won 1st place in the Neo-Traditional Band Contest at the Appalachian Stringband Festival in the summer of 2019. Cathy Fink says "Credit the Kolodner's with one of the best examples of innovative traditional string music heard yet this year. The centerpiece of the Ken & Brad Kolodner sound is fiddle tunes and old time songs...". They released their fourth studio album Stony Run in March 2020.
