July 12 Showcase – Rich Battaglia

by Rich

Rich is excited and delighted to be doing the Member Showcase, although he's a little intimidated talking about himself in the third person. But here goes.

His creative journey has been long, meandering, arduous and continual. Originally from South Philadelphia, music started with second grade clarinet, continuing through middle school orchestra and chorus. He then was recruited to play in a Mummers Parade string band and migrated to sax.

Rich was catapulted into adolescence by the song 'Do-wah-diddy' on AM radio. That's when playing guitar and bass started. The first show he did was at a cub scout meeting, playing Twist and Shout and You Really Got Me with The Locusts. At 14, he joined a working band, The Rockets: Weddings, socials, Bar Mitzvahs, but the best were Draft Parties. That meant no old standards, just Rock & Roll all night. The fact that some poor soul was getting sent off to 'Nam made the partying all the more intense. Playing with The Rockets lasted till he left for college, where he transitioned into folk songs. Donovan, Dylan, Eric Anderson, Leonard Cohen. Now a solo performer, there were small gigs and jams here and there, and the writing of songs began.

Rich became interested in classical guitar while getting his degree in mathematics at Temple University (graduating NOT magna cum laude, but skinna da teetha). After a two-year break, he enrolled in the Temple College of Music, majoring in composition and guitar. It was nerve wracking and soul freeing. Playing for the string department jury at the end of every semester shredded his nerves, only reversed at the end. But singing with the choral department expanded and widened his musical universe. He was accepted for the elite Concert Choir, and sang with the chorus many times, singing with the Philadelphia Orchestra under Eugene Ormandy, both at the Philadelphia Academy of Music and Carnegie Hall in pieces that included The Verdi Requiem and Beethoven's Choral Fantasia..

That math degree wasn't a complete waste: It landed him a job with AT&T. He got transferred to New York and hooked up with the National Improv Theater in Chelsea, where he studied, performed, and taught. He moved to the Washington, D.C., area after he was married and formed the improv troupe Now This! He later taught improv at a few schools and for 10 years has led a neighborhood improv troupe, System One Thinking.

He was also a member of a group of musicians in Garrett Park from 2003 through 2019. They met for jams twice monthly at the Garrett Park Town Hall and did quarterly coffee houses for the community. Many different bands, trios and duets were put together with a strong group of musicians.

Rich helps run the Donoharm Farm Second Saturday concerts, in Germantown MD. A number of Folk Club members have performed there and there will be more opportunities for Folks in the future.

For the showcase, Rich will do a mix of original tunes and covers, both solo and with Ben Hamblin, Ron Goad and John Wertz.

Rich is so fortunate to have run into Ron Goad at the farm last year, which is how he found the Folk Club, so blame Ron. When Rich was at the Memorial Day Jam at Nancy's in Luray, he knew he was blessed and found a musical home with some great Folks.

Train Songs - A Folk Club Theme Night

Tuesday, July 19, 2022

For the last few years we have picked one of the nights in July and August (months when we don't schedule concerts) and defined a suggested musical theme for performers to follow. It seems to work. It gives performers incentive to research different kinds of music and come up with songs which follow the theme and interpret them in their own style.

We're going to do it again this year. We have picked a theme for July 19th, and the challenge is on:

Play only songs mentioning trains - with different points of view and varied styles

Many musicians will want to do the Steve Goodman song City of New Orleans or Freight Train by Lizzie Cotton, and those who sign up early or who're lucky may be able to sing them. But most should be prepared to play something else. There are many others to choose from, like Folsom Prison Blues, The Ballad of John Henry, Chattanooga Choo Choo, Mystery Train, The Midnight Special, The Wreck of the Old 97, This Train Is Bound for Glory, Dixie Flyer, 500 Miles, Downbound Train, Rock Island Line, Paddy on the Railway, The Ballad of Casey Jones (The Brave Engineer), Wabash Cannonball, Long Train Running, I've Been Working on the Railroad, Last Train to Clarksville, Downtown Train – to mention just a few.

Need more inspiration? Here's an extremely long (exhaustive?) list: Wikipedia - List of Train Songs. Or maybe you've written your own train song.

While we're encouraging performers to present songs that fit the theme and mention trains, it's not required. However, we appreciate those who are able to do that. Also, if more people sign up than we can fit in by 9:45 PM we will extend the evening to allow everyone to play (possibly only one song).

CLUB INFO

Live Open Mic Streamed to YouTube

We are live streaming the open mic from the Amphora every Tuesday night, for those who cannot be there and would like to see the performances (and for those who'd like to see how they did after the fact). The YouTube link is posted to the Event Calendar on our website (https://folkclubofrestonherndon.org/?page_id=918).

Select the open mic link below the date; the YouTube link will be at the top of the description by 7:15 PM on Tuesday night (or the next day for ticketed guest artist concerts).

Virtual Open Mics Continue

Al Hobson continues hosting bi-weekly virtual open mics on Zoom. This month the dates are Monday July 11 and Monday July 25. If you'd like to share some songs, or watch and listen in, send an email to Al Hobson at alhobson@verizon.net by Sunday evening and let him know if you plan to perform or not. He'll send you the Zoom link for the 7:30 PM online open mic.

FOLK CLUB FORMAT

Most Tuesday nights the Folk Club is an open-mike format with a sign-up board. Each performer has 8 minutes, which includes setup time.

SHOWCASE PERFORMANCES

On the 2nd Tuesday of the month (usually), we feature a "Showcase" of a Folk Club member in a 24-minute performance. To do a Showcase you must: 1) be a paid-up Folk Club member who has not done a showcase in the last 12 months; 2) fill out a lottery slip and place it in the "drawing bucket"; 3) win the drawing on the night of the current month's showcase; and 4) be prepared to be featured in the next newsletter!

NEWSLETTER PUBLICATION

Folk Club members are encouraged to submit performance calendars, classified ads, articles, reviews, and other music-related items for the newsletter. Items will be published on the basis of music-related interest, timeliness, and available space. Send your input to newsletter editor Ben Hamblin at FolkClubOfRestonHerndon@gmail.com.
